

BEYOND COLOUR, CREED AND INTERPRETATION

Why is anger and rage such a growing concern? From road rage to school playgrounds, why are so many people quick to act with anger and violence? Why are youths growing increasingly agitated, organising into gangs and participating in random acts of rage? How do we tackle the anger and frustration in our counselling and pastoral work as Imams or frontline workers? What is the role of trauma in shaping certain tendencies to rage?

Hakim Archuletta will address these questions and provide strategies for healing and recovery.
